Forum Will Present Parley On European War

British, French and Polish Embassies
Will Be Represented on Panel

• A REPRESENTATIVE of each of three of the allied powers of the present European war headline the first Student Council forum, announced for Thursday, Dec. 7 at 8:15 p.m., in the Hall of Government.

The British, French and Polish Embassies have each promised to furnish a speaker to address the meeting, according to Irwin Nathanson, Student Council Forum Director. Following the addresses a panel of two students, and one member of the faculty will lead open discussion. George Pughe, prominent in the Student Congress for several years, and John Daugherty, president of the Student Council, are expected to serve on the panel, with the faculty member to be announced later.

The forum will, according to Nathanson, have as its primary purpose not simply a lecture or group of lectures, but rather an opportunity for students to participate in open discussion with authoritative representatives of prominent groups and ideas. The meeting, with the exception of three speeches, will be conducted entirely by students.

This is announced as the first of a monthly series of Student Council forums. Representative Martin Dies is scheduled to appear at one to be held in January, and a cabinet officer has tentatively accepted an invitation for February.

The Student Council, in a reorganization which took place in April, 1938, created the position of Forum Director among other "functional" offices, following the sponsoring of a series of seven forums by the Freshman Club that year. The event announced for Dec. 7 will be the first of its kind put on by the Council since the establishment of the position.

Home Ec Club Will Present Cosmetician

• A REPRESENTATIVE of Elizabeth Arden will speak at the meeting of the Home Economic Club this Friday at 12:30 in Gov. 1. She will be introduced by Margaret Breed, vice president of the club, and will demonstrate make-up for the club and guests.

In previous demonstrations the representative of the Arden preparations has made up different members of the audience for daytime, evening, and stage wear. Different cosmetics which the Arden Company puts up have been passed among the audience and prices of these have been quoted.

Having a natural looking student changed into a glamour girl that would make even "Cafe Society" sit up and take notice, is an interesting sight to behold. This is only one of the many miracles which are performed right before your eyes.

With the aid of a pair of false eyelashes, a few bobby pins, and a box of assorted make-up, a typically American girl is changed into an exotic Asiatic, the slanting eyes, and all.

This is not all the representative does; she instructs the students on the care of the skin and the best ways to apply the different cosmetics.

The meeting promises to be very entertaining and all girls interested are invited to attend. If any students are desirous of becoming a member there is a fee of 50 cents a semester.

"Union Now" To Be Discussed

• THE FOREIGN SERVICE Fraternity, Delta Phi Epsilon, will hold a meeting tonight at 8:00 in the Columbian House. There will be a discussion of "Union Now" by Thomas K. Street and Brice Toole, who is the organizer of the sensational plan for federal union of democracies of the world as laid down by Mr. Street's brother, Clarence, in his famous book of the same title.

All those interested are invited to attend.

Student Bar Will Present Justice Laws

• A LECTURE on pre-trial procedure by Justice Bolitha J. Laws of the United States District Court, will feature the first meeting of the year of the Student Bar Association, scheduled for Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in Room 10 of Stockton Hall.

Justice Laws is an authority on this topic, having discussed it at several out-of-town conventions, and even now is holding hearings on pre-trial procedure.

After the lecture, the entire audience is invited to participate in the social hour, which is planned to encourage personal contact among alumni, faculty, and the guest speaker.

The Student Bar Association is an organization for the entire student body of the University Law School. Its purpose is to foster and promote the activities of the law students, to sponsor social events, to give lectures, and to form study groups and case clubs; and it is designed to fill the need for contact between day and night law students.

Only last year Bolitha J. Laws was nominated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as Associate Justice of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. Justice Laws was born in Washington in 1891 and received his LL.B. degree from Georgetown University in 1914.

At the age of 23 he was appointed Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia and continued in that office until 1920, when he resigned to enter private practice. He became associated with a New York firm through his handling of a case growing out of the Trade with the Enemy Act passed during the World War, and at that time was admitted to the New York Bar. Returning to Washington, he became Assistant General Counsel for the United States Shipping Board and served in that capacity until 1922, at which time he resigned and became engaged in a law partnership in the firm of Cromelin and Laws.

Subsequent appointments were, first, chairman of the Grievances Committee of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and, second, subcommittee of the Committee on Admissions and Grievances.

In 1920 Justice Laws married Miss Nancy MacLeod, of Lynchburg, Va. They are living in Chevy Chase, Md.

At present, the pre-trial procedure is one of the newest and most important fields of civil procedure. Justice Laws was interested in its promotion and is very influential in its operation.

Psychiatrist Will Speak On Famous Fools

• "FAMOUS MADCAPS of History" is to be the topic of a lecture to be given by Dr. Winfred Overholser, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Thursday at 8:15 in Hall A of the Medical School.

Held under the auspices of the William Alanson White Psychiatric Society of the University Medical School, the meeting will be presided over by Edmund Ziman, acting chairman, who will announce the date of a future lecture to be given by Dr. Fromm-Reichman, famous European psychiatrist, on psychoanalysis and its application in the treatment of schizophrenia.

Order Of Artus Initiates And Hears Lecture

• THE SCHOLASTIC achievements of Glenn G. Haycraft, William M. Thompson and Robert L. Sammons were formally recognized Tuesday night when these students were initiated into the Order of Artus (Omicron Delta Gamma), honorary economics fraternity. Messrs. Haycraft and Thompson are seniors majoring in economics and Mr. Sammons is taking graduate work in economics at the University.

After the initiation a talk on the subject "German Economic Mobilization" was made by Dr. Gerhard Colm, noted German economist.

Eligibility Of Forum Head Is Discussed

Student Raises
Question: Council
Tables It

• A CLAUSE of the Student Council's Constitution that prohibits the person who holds any of the Council's functional offices from holding any executive office in any major campus activity was brought to the attention of the Council at its meeting last Monday night by a student of the University, Murray Berdick. Berdick referred to Student Council Forum Director Irwin Nathanson, who also holds the position of business manager of The Hatchet and is a member of the Board of Editors of The Hatchet.

President of the Council John Daugherty referred the matter to the Council's Advocate, Dick McDonald, who reported that there exists such a clause and that it seemed clear and unequivocal.

Bill Gausmann introduced a motion that Nathanson be directed to comply with the Council regulation stated in the Constitution. The motion was tabled until the next meeting by a vote of five in favor, tabling to four against tabling; those voting to table were Dick McDonald, Alice Miller, Morgan Percy, John Sullivan, and Nathanson; those voting against tabling were John Breckenridge, Gausmann, Betty Green, and Bob Linehan.

In order that discussion of the matter might be reopened, Gausmann then introduced a motion which provided that the Council should define membership of The Hatchet Board of Editors as "an executive office of a major campus activity," an identical five to four vote tabled this motion. A third and final attempt to discuss the question ruled out of order by Daugherty and upheld by the same five to four, was an amendment to include the Business Manager of The Hatchet in Gausmann's previous motion defining "executive office."

Bob Linehan, publications representative, acting on behalf of ODK and Morior Board, asked the Council to instruct its program director to close Dec. 14 to all events except a forum, for which speakers had already been obtained, to be given under the joint sponsorship of these two organizations. The closed date was refused because the Council's Forum Director, Nathanson, announced that he might be able to secure a forum Dec. 7 and that the ODK-Morior Board forum might detract from the Council forum. ODK and Morior Board will be asked to postpone their forum.

The perennial campaign to aid the lesser known campus activities was revived by the Council's President announcing his intention to make some suggestions by mail to the Council's Publicity Director.

University Holds Safety Education Conferences

• THE UNIVERSITY will hold an Institute of Safety Education under the direction of Dr. Herbert J. Stack, Director of the Center for Safety Education of New York University, and other members of the Center's staff, on Saturday.

The sessions, under the auspices of the School of Education, will take place throughout the day in the Hall of Government. Following a general assembly at 10 a.m., which will be addressed by Dr. Stack, there will be division conferences throughout the morning that will deal with the topics of Secondary School Problems in Safety Education, Materials and Methods of Safety Education in Elementary Schools, Problems in Driver Training, Safety Education in the Home and Problem Dealing with School Boy Patrols.

Safety demonstrations will be given in the afternoon by the American Red Cross and the American Automobile Association. Safety Exhibits arranged by Herman V. Schreiber, Safety Engineer of the Capital Transit Company, will be on view in the Hall of Government.

Dr. Stack, director of the New York University Center for Safety Education, has been a leader in state and city safety programs during the last two decades. He has lectured and held conferences at more than 400 colleges and universities.

Three holders of graduate fellowships at the Center will assist in the conference: Milton D. Kramer, an instructor in driver education and training, and one of the best-qualified authorities in this field; John Dunne, an expert on home safety and formerly associated with the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross; and Edwin D. Schreiber, who is on leave from the Tennessee Industrial School in Nashville, of which he is assistant principal. All are conducting research at the Center toward advanced degrees in safety education.

Others who will serve as chairmen and discussion leaders are: Dr. James Harold Fox, Dean of the School of Education of the University; R. W. Evans, principal of the Thompson School, Washington; Pyke Johnson, research assistant of the National Education Association; W. I. Cleveland, manager of the District Motor Club of the American Automobile Association; Mrs. Ola Rush, supervisor of Household Arts, District of Columbia Schools; Dr. B. H. Jarmak, of the faculty of the School of Education; and W. L. Robinson, assistant traffic engineer, American Automobile Association.

Fulton Lewis Will Address Freshman Club

• FULTON LEWIS, JR., Washington news commentator, will be the guest speaker at the Freshman Club meeting Friday at 12:30 p.m. All freshmen are invited to come and hear this news commentator who broadcasts daily over WOL at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in Gov-100.

New life was put into the Freshman Club at an energetic executive meeting presided over by President Herbert Benjamin, two weeks ago.

Ambitious plans for publicity, including contact with all the fraternities and sororities on campus are being carried out by Melvin Bers, Caroline Parkinson, Adrienne Warner and Pat Farrell.

Editors Plan Large Size Cherry Tree

• IN RESPONSE to popular approval of last year's Cherry Tree the University will again have a large size annual next May. It has been announced by Editor Helen McNeill. For several years preceding 1938, the University's graduating class had published a small size annual. It is felt that this larger book is "more truly representative of the University."

Of great importance to all seniors and also to all students belonging to groups planning to have their pictures taken individually, is the announcement that pictures will be taken at Casson Studios, 1305 Conn. Ave. Individual pictures cost $1.50 and it is urged that they be taken as soon as possible. The deadline is Dec. 27.

It is also most important that all contracts and information forms now going out to the fraternities, sororities and other organizations be returned to the publication office by Dec. 10. Since failure to cooperate in this matter holds up work on the Cherry Tree, the editors are making a special plea that the organizations fill out these blanks and return them as soon as possible.

It was also announced by Editor Helen McNeill that for a limited time, students may still apply for positions on the literary or business staffs of the Cherry Tree. All interested should either see the editor or send their applications to the publications office on the third floor of Building B.

Senior staff editors this year are: Ann Joyce David, senior activities; Fred Youngblood, features; Frank McGinnis, men's sports; and Hazel Smallwood, women's sports.

Alumnus Appointed President of Arkansas State University

• JAMES W. FULBRIGHT, alumnus, LL.B., class '34, has been appointed president of the State University of Arkansas.

Mr. Fulbright received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Arkansas, and then as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford he acquired an additional Bachelor of Arts degree as well as the Master of Arts degree.

When he returned to the United States, he came to George Washington Law School, where he received his LL.B. degree in 1934. He later became an instructor in the University Law School. After one year, he went as a lecturer on equity and constitutional law to the University of Arkansas, where he was appointed president although only 34 years old this fall.

Inter-American Solidarity Subject Of Conference

Young Cuban Senorita
Will Be A Speaker

• SENORITA MERCEDES GUERRA, young Cuban who is one of a delegation of distinguished Latin American women now making a good will tour of the United States, will be one of the speakers who will address the University's three-day Conference on Pan-American Problems, to be held here Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

The first woman ever to appear on the program of this annual conference, she will discuss the part that women of the two hemispheres can play in the protection of inter-American solidarity.

Senorita Guerra is the daughter of Dr. Ramiro Guerra, distinguished scholar and historian, and serves as her father's secretary in Washington. After attending high school and normal school in her native Cuba she became active in the work of women's organizations there, and is especially interested in the question of cooperation between the peoples of the United States and Latin America.

The good will tour, from which she will return to Washington Nov. 30, is sponsored by the Peoples Mandate Committee. This group was launched in 1935 under the leadership of such outstanding American women as Jane Addams, Dr. Mary E. Woolley and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, to register and express sentiment for peace and to make it known to leaders in the twenty-one American republics. The purpose of the present tour,

Teams Will Be Divided In Anglo-American Debate

American Intervention
In Europe Will Be Argued Tonight

• THE OXFORD DEBATE, Edward R. G. Heath and Peter Street, are meeting the University debaters, Charles E. Corker and Calvin Cory, tonight at 8:15 in Government 101. Their subject is "Resolved, That the United States Should Mediate in European Affairs."

In order to avoid misunderstanding as to the purpose of the debate, which is in the series of annual international debates begun 16 years ago, the English team has requested a split-team arrangement. Therefore, each side will consist of one Englishman and one American.

Mr. Heath, whose home is in Kent, is president of the Oxford Union Society, the student legislative forum. By nature and politics he is a radical-conservative. Previously he was president of Balliol Junior Common Room and of the University Conservative Association. He is an outstanding musician and in 1936 won the open organ scholarship at Balliol College, Oxford. He has also won school prizes for music, and for character and service. He has studied in France, Belgium, and Germany, and visited Spain during the Civil War.

Mr. Street, who is from London, was acting president of the Oxford Union Society at the beginning of the present war and is now president of the Oxford University Liberal Club. He has also been president of the Junior Common Room at Exeter College, Oxford, he won boxing and rugby football colors and was captain of athletics. This year he received the honors degree in chemistry. On his return to England, he is to commence training with the Royal Engineers in the British Army.

Mr. Corker, born and raised in Boise, Idaho, was graduated from the Boise High School in 1935 and for one summer worked as a radio announcer. After attending Stanford University for a year and a half, he entered George Washington University in February 1937. He has participated actively in Cus and Carlinas as well as in intercollegiate debate. He is a member of the Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debate fraternities. He is employed in the office of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho.

Mr. Cory, a native of Nevada, won the freshman oratorical contest when he entered the University in 1937. Before entering college, he had been a member of the state championship debate team of Nevada. He is a member of the University congress and the debate council.

In the forum following the debate, members of the audience may question the debaters.

The debate is open to the public. Cards of admission may be obtained from Professor Roberts of the Public Speaking Department.

Banquet Closes Fall Sports For Women

• WITH THE CLOSE of the fall sports season, women sports enthusiasts will meet at the Admiral Club Friday night for the grand finale of the season, the annual fall banquet of the Women's Athletic Association. The banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Honoring new members of W.A.A., girls who have been able to make class teams during the season, the banquet will feature the presentation of W.A.A. pins.

Miss Betty Lee-Evans, English hockey coach and member of the All-English ice cross team, who has been instructing hockey classes at the University and at other local colleges recently, will regale her hearers in a low English accent with stories of her home country, as speaker of the evening.

Novel skills, including take-offs on the popular workshop and the new ice skating class, will lighten the program. Presentation of awards will also be made.

Tickets will sell for $1 and may be obtainable from managers of sports of from any member of the W. A. A. Board. The banquet will be informal.

Committee chairmen in charge of the banquet are Kathryn Hershey, Mabel Vierling and Ruth Brunner.

Alpha Kappa Psi Will Hear Col. Miles On Mobilization

• "THE NEW INDUSTRIAL Mobilization Plan" will be the subject of a talk by Col. Francis H. Miles, Jr., Commandant of the Army Industrial College, tomorrow at an open meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, at 8:15 p.m. in Columbian House.

"An off the record discussion of the new plan with its effects on capital and labor by one able qualified, this talk should prove of great interest to everyone," said Joe Findlay, president.

Col. Miles is a graduate of West Point, the Harvard School of Business, and the Army Industrial College. He has been employed in the Ordnance Department or in a supply capacity of the War Department for 27 years.

Welcome English Debaters

• THIS WEEK WILL SEEM a notable one to those in the University who are interested in public speaking and current problems. A traditional annual event will take place tonight which represents forensics on this campus at its best, the International Debate.

Fittingly enough in the building dedicated to the study of government, representatives of a neutral nation and a warring nation will discard their national prejudices and on a split-team arrangement thrash out the question, "Resolved that the United States should mediate in European affairs." Probably it would do many members of our Government much good to hear this discussion.

To the debaters from Oxford University, The Hatchet extends a sincere welcome and expresses the hope that they will leave this University with a favorable impression of the hospitality of the Nation's Capital.

Students and professors will probably find both of these events entertaining and stimulating, well worth attending.

Such occasions as this represent extra-curricular activities at their best. Petty squabbling for campus prestige is laid aside, and students are given the opportunity to develop poise and bearing in public, the art of self-expression, and even more important perhaps, the habit of actual thinking about the world around us. Here one sees activities not replacing but rather supplementing classroom procedures in the University.

Campus Lethargy

• FOR THE THIRD TIME this semester the problem of the class clubs cries for attention in these columns. Twice before a stimulating has been recommended. They have been urged to do something—ANYTHING. The campus is still waiting.

Yet it is felt that criticism directed at the Freshman Club and its officers alone would fall far short of the true function of the Fourth Estate. The present dismal situation of the class clubs on campus is a symptom of a general campus disease—one which should be brought out into the open, into the consciousness of a progressive student body, for treatment and cure.

Two weeks ago tomorrow the Freshman Club scheduled a talk by the Dean of the Junior College. If there is any one person on the faculty in whom freshmen particularly would be interested, that person is the head of their own college. Yet something failed to click—the Dean was notified a few minutes before time to appear that his appearance had been postponed, and the eight or nine who had shown up went down to the W. S. G. A. noon dance.

We mercifully draw the curtain over mention of many, many similar incidents in the history of other campus organizations during the past few years.

The problem presented is: Is there a marked deficiency in campus leadership, and if so, what can be done about it?

Regretfully we must acknowledge that the first question must, in the light of experience, be answered in the affirmative.

Holding an office is, or can be, important to the individual, for it affords him opportunity to develop his own abilities. The greater importance, however, is to the other students. Under progressive, competent leadership every member of an organization receives many distinct advantages which would be impossible to obtain by individual action.

This year members of the Freshman Club, and other organizations, are being deprived of these benefits of group action.

There is no one single answer to the problem. A partial remedy would be for campus organizations to work as hard AFTER the elections as before—to devote the same effort to assisting elected officers as they did to selecting, nominating, and electing them.

It has been suggested that officers of the Freshman Club might well meet informally with some of their predecessors in class organizations, and others who have had experience in campus organization, who still are deeply interested in the success of such groups. We endorse the idea heartily, and recommend that other groups follow the example.

The first and basic hope of a successful college democracy—group action aimed at individual benefit for all—lies in the students who, after selecting their leaders, will demand that they fulfill the responsibilities of their position with honor to themselves and to those who have given them the opportunity for service.

Bar Group Fills Need

• ONE OF THE FOREMOST needs of the University is some organization outside of classes which can supplement the basic preparation given in individual courses.

Various groups have arisen from this need, offering to students an opportunity to pursue their studies further and to discuss with fellow students the problems in their field. One of these groups is the Student Bar Association, organized last year to foster professional ideals among law students, to afford professional contacts, to encourage self-help and study methods, and to afford a means of expression of student opinion.

The aims of this organization would appear to realize that one essential in a University—individual student effort devoted to more concentrated study. Knowledge such as can be achieved from an organization of this type can be derived from no other source. A lecture-type classroom can present only certain facts; they can present little supplementary knowledge. Even a discussion class is limited by its student-professor relationships. But a student group working as students can fill in the gaps and amplify classroom knowledge with practicality.

That the Student Bar Association is attempting to realize its aims actively is evident in the securing of Justice Bolitha J. Laws, one of the foremost lawyers of the city, to discuss a subject that no doubt lies without the textbook range.

If the law students take advantage of these opportunities, they will be making for a permanent establishment of a type of organization that should, as time goes on, take a successively larger place in University life.

The Skeleton Warns

Attention, Hoyal!

• TWO EMBRYO cheer writers, trying to win the contest sponsored by the Student Council, wound up with not a single satisfactory cheer for their own alma mater—but did come across several suitable Georgetown ones. An example:

"One thing I like about this Grady fellow—you can pronounce his name."

War Talk

• WORLD WAR, the Second, is giving University faculty ideas.

Mr. Strollo, of the engineering faculty, after some difficulty in getting members of his engineering class to volunteer for blackboard work, issued the following ultimatum:

"If we don't have any more volunteers, we'll have to institute a draft system."

Foo-losophy?

• A PHYSICS professor, perhaps best remaining unnamed, defines philosophy as "Hunting for a black cat in a dark cellar, when it isn't there."

Snazzy, Eh?

• DAPPER Dr. Howard Merriman, professor of history and last year's most eligible bachelor on the faculty, holds high hopes for a bow tie renaissance here, a social science student reports.

Long a proponent of this type of neckwear, Professor Merriman has been heartened by the unexpected conversion of a few long time four-in-hand advocates among the students.

Why, Oh, Why?

George confesses ignorance and passes the query on to his reader(s).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

O. D. K. Defended

To the Editors:

To refresh your memory, you printed a criticism of allegedly unjustified activity of Omicron Delta Kappa.

There exists on campus an organization called the Student Council, whose duty it is to coordinate the various activities, provide entertainments, dances, and orientation programs. We would be foolish to try to duplicate this work, and would indeed be limited financially in comparison with the huge budget of that organization. If you give this enough consideration, I think you will agree that this council, and the various sub-councils perform most of the tasks which are necessary to a healthy activities life.

Please consider in addition: O. D. K.'s limited to men old in extra-curricular life, who have already given their full share of service to activities. It is not only reasonable that they should, when we are forced to retire from an active participation in activities, but it is only fair for them to make way for others coming up. And as for inventing new activities!—just look at the lists of those which now exist and haven't a sufficient group to give them more than nominal support.

As our particular chapter of O. D. K. is constituted, and probably will be for many years because of the night school students, we cannot put on any large-scale effort requiring a great deal of time. I do not think you expect such a personnel to devote hours each week to any activity, especially as all of them have already participated so greatly.

The answer to our trouble is: we need more day students. Our view is that we will take day students as quickly as night students, but they must meet our qualifications as always. Not many have done it in the past, but I hope the future will change this.

Very sincerely,
J. Winfield Rankin.

Indian Giver!

• FIREWORKS broke loose last week at the University of North Carolina when the county public health commissioner prevented the presentation of information concerning living conditions in and around Chapel Hill at a forum program held last Sunday.

Two weeks previously, the commissioner has promised to present case reports to the forum, either in the form of a skit or a reading. On the morning of the day on which the discussion was to take place, Richardson informed the sponsors of the program that he could not fulfill his promise.

He gave as his reasons that the departments of public health and welfare were not charitable ones, and that since the Union Student forum was planning a collection to be used for welfare work, a revelation of conditions to the forum would be equivalent to the department's soliciting funds.

Love Thy Neighbor

• RECIPROCITY keynoted the recent Thanksgiving holidays at the University of Missouri. The Independent Service Club inaugurated a program which allowed students desiring rides home during the holidays and those with accommodations for passengers to contact each other.

Money, Money, Money

• 1,177 STUDENTS at Northwestern earned a total of $192,067 in the school year 1938-39 through jobs secured for them by the placement office at that school. 1,890 different jobs were made available by the office.

Tutoring, it seems, brings the fastest pay check, with the noggin piercers hauling in $2 an hour.

"One of the interesting aspects of student employment," said Armond Willis, director of the placement bureau, "is that those working their way through college are far better than average students. More than one-half of the students who made Phi Beta Kappa during the year were registered for work in the placement bureau."

Buff Closes Card With W. Virginia

By JOHN E. STRONG
• THE COLONIALS will be after their third straight victory when they go out to Morgantown to take on the oft-defeated Mountaineers of West Virginia next Saturday afternoon in the season's finale for both teams. Chances for victory seem excellent, as the West Virginia lads, whose coach resigned in mid-season, have only won two games while losing five and tying one.

After opening their season by swamping a weak West Virginia Wesleyan team 44-0, the Mountaineers have had a tough time of it. They lost to Pitt, 20-0; edged out Cincinnati, 7-0; lost to Washington & Lee, 9-0; were tied by South Carolina, 6-6, and lost to Georgetown, 14-0; Manhattan, 13-7, and finally to Kentucky, 13-6. Last week they held their own with an open date.

Colonials Seek Local Honors
Despite the apparent weakness of next week's opponent, the Colonials are by no means planning to ease up for the last game of the season. Running-neck and neck with Catholic University for the second place spot in the D. C. ranking, the Buffmen are determined to show the sports experts that they are the class of the city, or at least close to it.

Not only that, but there is the little matter of two straight defeats at the hands of the Mountaineers during the last two years to be avenged. Last year West Virginia spoiled the Colonials' Thanksgiving by a score of 7-6 and the year before were very impolite as host, smashing the Buffmen 26-0 in a driving rain.

Buff Seeks Series Edge
The series between the Colonials and the Mountaineers dates back to 1920 (when West Virginia won 81-0) and during the years the two schools have met six times. Each team has won three engagements and each will be out to take the jump in the series.

Six of the Colonials will be playing their last game of football for the Buff and Blue. Bob Nowaskey, the Colonial's All-American candidate, Billy Richardson, Art Nowaskey, Ralph Zelaska, Sunny Jones, and Duce Keahey will all be bowing out of the Colonial football picture Saturday afternoon. Of these six, however, one will probably be back next year with the Washington Redskins. It is understood that Bob Nowaskey has indicated his willingness to join the pros for a few years, and the Redskins will probably grab him unless somebody else picks him in the draft first.

Bright Spots Of Final Buff Home Game

By AL "LUCKY" LUCYK
• THE BUFF AND BLUE came closely through, The Bucknell Bison was victim, too.

With the Kansas pelt in his belt, The Colonial sting is being felt. Two in the row, and one game to go. He's gunning for the Mountaineer, oh.

(Pardon our Shakespeare, but we had to get it out of our system.) (Editor's note—It's terrible poetry. Excuse it, please.)

Speaking of revenge, we got it Saturday. Perhaps the score doesn't sound decisive enough, but the truer story is written in the statistics. G. W. got three first downs for every one of Bucknell's with the same ratio for yards gained.

Singing their gridiron swan song before the home crowd (to put it in the vernacular of the sports writer), or in undiluted English, wearing the George Washington colors for the last time before the local fans were the Nowaskeys, Bob and Art, Billy Richardson, Duce Keahey and Ralph Zelaska.

There is a possibility that Bob will be playing before a Washington crowd next year in a Red-skin uniform... Captain Sunny Jones set an example for his cohorts by making the first tackle of the game... Incidentally, Sunny made sure that he got the ball as the game ended. He nearly bowled the referee over in getting it... Billy Richardson, Buff "Tiny Mite," did some clever running and proved his prowess.

The game warranted a better crowd than the 4,000 people who braved the chill and wind of Griffith Stadium... Bucknell rooters were conspicuous by their absence.

The news photographers were fewer than in previous games... almost stumbling over each other. Wait, Fedora "look to the air," and we do not mean passing either.

We're referring to his low-flying ball carrying... The announcer's "Fedora stopped at the line of scrimmage by both lines" was good enough for a laugh... Frank August's beautiful block in the waning seconds of the third quarter was as astute as you ever want to see. It put five Bisons out of the running to enable Tom Grady to advance the ball for 45 yards... We're doing Walt Welc an injustice by not mentioning him. His conversion was the margin of victory and split the up-rights right in half.

We see where one of the news-reels picks Clemora's Banks McFadden for their All-American team. What we saw of Banks, we believe that their choice was justified. His running and quick-kicking are more than memories... They're nightmares.

We're wondering if Deep Elmer Kayser still thinks that we're the inert, unassuming (etc., etc.) student body as he had us a few weeks ago?... Take it back, Dean?

Round Robins Begin

Nowaskey And Grady Star As Buff Whips Bucknell

By FRANK MANN

• DESPITE AN ATTACK of what hackneyed sports writers are prone to call "acute fumbleitis," the Colonial gridders eked out a 7-6 victory over the Bucknell Bisons Saturday afternoon at Griffith Stadium.

The few loyal fans who braved pneumonia weather to witness the last local college game of the year saw a vacillating Buff attack stiffen late in the first period for a 73-yard march to the winning score. Starting from their own 27-yard line, the Colonial line shook Sophomore Eddie Wilamoski loose on a long run which ended (for Wilamoski) on the Bison 46. Repeating their play of a week ago, Wilamoski flipped a lateral to big Bob Nowaskey as he was tackled, and the senior end stepped his way down to the four-yard marker before George Kilek, Bison fullback, knocked him out of bounds.

Urick Scores for Colonials

On his third try at the stubborn Bucknell line Lud Urick plunked over for the score. Then, amid the cheers of the now half-frozen spectators, Walter Welc booted the game-winning point squarely between the uprights.

A fourth down kick (the same kind that lost the Hoya game for us) was blocked in the second quarter by John McElhany, Bison end, and set up a Bucknell touchdown. Putting from his own 30-yard line, little Billy Richardson saw the big Bucknell end thrust his 184-pound frame into the boot, scoop up the ball, and run to the 20 before two alert Colonials hit him with a bone-cracking tackle. McElhany fumbled the ball, but Boner, who was a thorn in the side of the Colonials all afternoon, was there to recover, and the Bisons took the ball on the 20.

Three smashes at the line netted a first down on the nine, and from there Frank Fuhair scored on a swift dash around the left flank. With an opportunity to tie the score hanging on the extra point, George Kilek's attempt at conversion went wide, and with the ball went hopes of a Bucknell victory.

Colonial Defensive Power Shown

Despite the close score, the Bisons never did reach Colonial territory on their own hook. The two times they got the ball across the 50-yard marker came about on pro team, played one of his outstanding games, both offensively and defensively. Besides setting up the winning score with a 41-yard dash after taking the lateral from Wilamoski, he was all over the field making tackle after tackle and covering Grady's booming punts, and did nothing to discourage the views of those who look upon him as real All-American material.

Walt Fedora made one of the Colonial long runs in the second quarter, skirting left end for 27 yards from his own 25-yard line to the Bison 48. Frank August made two of the game's most sensational plays. He took Grady's high pass on the Bucknell 30, making an almost impossible catch. He stopped the pass with his right hand and caught it with the left as it came down, although he was covered by two Bison backs. He made a sensational flying block that took out two Bucknell players as Grady was running wide around right end and gave Tommy at least 10 more yards.

John Kokoski, who was lost to the Colonials early in the season on an appendicitis operation, played half of the game and gave a creditable performance. He also saw plenty of action against Kansas last week.

Faculty Circles Witness Latimer Troth

• A WEDDING of more than usual interest in University circles took place at the Calvary Baptist Church Wednesday when Dr. Corrine Cooper became the bride of Dr. John Francis Latimer.

The Reverend William S. Abernethy, rector of the church, performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock. Fall flowers in their vases provided the background for the informal marriage of these two popular University officials.

Bride Presented Charming Picture
Dr. Cloyd Cooper escorted his sister down the aisle and gave her in marriage. As the bride walked to the altar on the arm of her brother, she presented a charming picture in an afternoon gown of moss green and a rust brown hat covered with matching green velvet flowers. Adding to the becoming attire was her bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Alvia Tones, sister of the bride and her only attendant, preceded the bride in the wedding procession. She wore an afternoon gown of Chinese tea shade and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Catherine Latimer Monroe, the bridegroom's sister, came from Providence, R. I., to play the Wedding March for the ceremony.

Dr. Latimer's Brother Best Man
Mr. Murray Latimer, Dr. Latimer's brother, was the best man and the ushers selected were Professors Douglas Bement, Norman B. Ames and James Coberly.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bloedon, Dean and Mrs. Doyle, Dean and Mrs. Johnston, Dean Wilbur, and Registrar and Mrs. Nessell.

Dr. Latimer and his bride after their honeymoon trip to New York, will make their home at the Greenwood Apartments in this city.

Faculty Day Will Be Held December 10

• FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the University a "Faculty Day" will be sponsored by the sororities on campus. It was announced by Betty Corkhill of the Panhellenic Sorority Hall Council Sunday.

Dec. 10th has been set aside as the date when members of the faculty will be entertained by all sororities on campus. The teas will be from 4 to 6.

It is expected that members of the faculty will progress from one tea to the other and in this manner see, at some time, all sororities on campus.

"I feel that this is a much better way than having each sorority hold a faculty tea on a different day," Jane Coulter, president of the Panhellenic Council told reporters, "as in this way the professors can visit all the groups on one day."

Helen Carstarphen, also a member of the Inter-sorority Council, said that in her opinion the plan was a good one, as it allowed members of the faculty to meet their students socially as well as in classes. "It is especially beneficial to the sorority pledges," she said.

Ice-Skating Is New U Sport

• ICE SKATING, new sport for University co-eds, will begin Monday, Dec. 4, as a regular class in the University's women's sports curriculum.

Scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday at 2:30 p.m. and Wednesday and Friday at the same time at the Riverside Stadium, the classes will be instructed by Robin Scott, rink professional, who teaches figure skating at the stadium.

Mr. Scott, who attended the University of California, held two speed skating records in 1933, was the first Western skater to win the national title in a United States competition in 1937 and was Pacific Coast indoor and outdoor figure skating champion, 1935 and '36.

Classes may be attended without credit once or twice a week, but must be attended regularly.

The price is 50¢ for each class, including instruction and entrance fee. Strips of tickets must be purchased at the Women's Physical Education Department office in Building H. Strips of four tickets for $2 or eight tickets for $4 must be purchased at one time.

Premed Splash Party Held at Shoreham

• ATTIRED AS sons and daughters of Neptune, the Premeds frolicked last Wednesday night in the Shoreham Pool. Biggest splash of all was Gordon Smith, Chairman of Premedics. Eloise Kleihorn and Marilyn Williams made the arrangements for the party which was attended by about sixty Premeds and their friends. High-board Kimble performed gracefully before his audience and was loudly applauded. The hero of the evening, however, was Muscle Garby. He beat the lifeguard to the rescue when Brooks was gasping in the middle of the pool after two chlorine cocktails. Marion Choisser and Joe Connor dripped in very late.

Buff And Blue Room Opens Third Season Friday

• MYSTERY in its highest form will entice students of all types to the Student Club Friday night when the popular Buff and Blue room of G. W. formally opens its third season.

There will be no mystery as to who attends the affair but the enigma will start when 10:30 rolls around and the performers go into action. All will be masked and will remain anonymous until the end of the evening.

Non-participants will vote on the entertainers before being able to determine their identity. When poll has been completed the favorite will return to give an encore to his loyal audience.

Bob Howard has been appointed to take charge of decorations. Lee Everett, who has been affectionately nicknamed by his radio listeners "Old Sol," will take over as master of ceremonies early in the evening, and in his own inimitable style "put across" the actors.

The Buff and Blue room this year under the direction of Bob Geran, president of the Wesley Club, was first sponsored by the Student Council three years ago. It was then sponsored as the only dry night club east of the Mississippi in order to provide a reasonably priced social center for both the fraternity and non-fraternity men and women.

Vinnie De Angelis, first director of the new club, started the policy which has been continued through its successful career, of featuring school talent. Bill Wright and Biff Borden, co-directors, last year continued this policy at which time Grant Sherk was discovered as a G. W. crooner.

Dancing at the dry night club will be this year to the tunes of the Royal Blues orchestra, popular campus band. It is well known to all students due to its partial student membership and its rendition at many other school affairs.

Adhering its usual policy, it was announced by Mr. Geran that no stags would be allowed Friday and that a strict no-out rule would be followed. With the exception of this reversion to more formal times, informality will be a keynote of the dance. In particular, dress will be informal.

The price of the dance will be 75 cents drag, and reservations may be made at the Student Club counter before Friday noon or tickets may be purchased at the door.

Fraternities Hold Few Functions During Holidays

• THE FRATERNITIES and sororities have apparently been too busy eating their Thanksgiving turkey and cranberries to do much of anything else this week with the possible exception of attending the Interfraternity tea dance and the game.

These two affairs were literally packed with the usual holiday crowd, all of whom were extremely busy having the best time they could cram into the fast fleeing hours. Individually, the Greek's entertaining hit a new low.

Zeta Pledges Entertain
A few organizations, however, did not let the Thanksgiving spirit get the better of them and so entertained in their usual manner. The pledges of Zeta Tau Alpha entertained other sorority pledges in their rooms yesterday.

Delta Zeta pledges also adhered to the policy of introducing themselves to other pledges at their tea last Wednesday. Carrying this policy into the field of fraternity pledges, the Delta Zetas entertained the Kappa Sig pledges at dinner last night.

T. A. O. Held House Party
Tau Alpha Omega entertained out-of-town fraters at a gay house party over this Thanksgiving holiday and in this way made the weekend enjoyable for all. T. A. O. recently pledged Ralph Alpher, Morton Johnson, Joseph Katz, Freddie Richmond, Bill Targoff, Oscar Wasserman, Stan Werbow, Bob Zimmerman and Ralph Zorn and entertained them with a pledge party at the Hay Loft.

Kay Wheeler, pledge of Delta Zeta, spent the Thanksgiving vacation in Richmond where she attended a University of Richmond dance. Other G. W. sites who spent the holidays in far-off spaces include Frances Rolfe, Pi Phi, who was at West Point; John Mellor, who visited his family in New York, and Roy Lever.

Phi Alpha Entertains After Game
Phi Alpha entertained their pledges this week-end with an after-the-game (Bucknell) dance. Phi Alphans will continue their dance policy with a formal at the house next Saturday night.

Two sorority pledge classes were officially organized when Sigma

Kappa and Kappa Delta pledges elected officers last week.

Helen Duckson, president; Creelman Rowland, vice president; Lois McCann, secretary; Mary Reynolds, treasurer; and Jane McElligott, Panhellenic delegate were announced by K. D. and Sigma Kappa officers as Donis Nell Thomas, president; Audrey Browne, vice president; Evelyn Momen, secretary; Vi Zirkle, treasurer; and Marlow Short, Panhellenic delegate.

McCall Engrossed in Date
At the dance and game some of those people were having such a good time that, like Tom McCall, they were so engrossed in their dates (Tom's was a cute A. D. Pi pledge) that they saw practically none of the game. It was a good game, too.

Sig Ep Adonis?
A Sig Ep around this campus is supposedly referred to as an "adonis" by some of the frosh; one of the handsomest men she has ever seen by one of the Homecoming queens, and as a dead pan by others. We couldn't find out who he was, although the last statement could refer to a goodly number. If you are still interested in his name we will try to accommodate next week.

Watch Out
Warning: to all co-eds who want dates to the famed Silver and Magenta Ball—better work on your men early or you won't get promised favors as bids to the dance are going fast.

Caroline Parkinson, Kappa pledge, decided that Marie McNeese, famous KKG of last year "really had something there" when she introduced her to the owner of the Sig pin she's wearing. Better watch yourself, Marie, or you'll be losing one Fred Youngblood to your little pledge.

Another Lever Fan
We hear that Roy Lever of new found "Call Me God" fame, has another swooner at his feet. This time it's that pep gal, Pat Hickman, who joined the Rouser's Club just to be near her love. Watch your step, little K. D. pledge.

And in conclusion, the K. D.s in The Hatchet office are wondering who the "Rudolph Valentino" who appears occasionally is. Sure looks mighty interesting.

Phi Sigma Kappa Initiates 8 Sunday

• THE PHI SIGMA KAPPA brothers spent the Thanksgiving holidays in a manner, so far as we can determine, that is unprecedented in the history of the University.

Beginning on the day of thanks itself the brothers began giving eight pledges something to be thankful for, as on that day Hell Week began for them. These eight pledges became pledges Sunday afternoon at the initiation ceremony held at the house, 1765 Massachusetts Ave.

The new Phi Sig brothers are: Charles Raymond Cotton Daugherty, III, William George Nerren, Albert Alford Payne, Raleigh Eugene Peterson, Joseph Lincoln Phillips, Harry Wallace Smith, Hendrik William Vietor and Samuel Miller Von Krummer. With these new initiates, the active chapter roster of Phi Sigma Kappa now embraces thirty-nine men.

Phi Mu Wins Volley Ball Tournament

• TRIUMPHING OVER the winners of the other two leagues, Phi Mu's volleyball team came out winner in the intra-mural tournament last week.

Chi Omega, last year's winner, was second and Pi Phi placed third.

In this Kaywoodie pipe, called the Carburetor Kaywoodie, a wonderfully sweet-smoking pipe has been improved by the application of a neat little principle of physics. When you take a puff at one of these Carburetor Kaywoodies, you automatically draw air in through a tiny inlet in the bottom of the bowl. That incoming air keeps the smoke cool, sweet and serene, no matter how belligerently you puff. In fact, the harder you puff, the more air comes in. That's why it's called a Carburetor Kaywoodie. Everybody knows that a Kaywoodie is the most socially-conscious of pipes—gets itself admired everywhere. And the Kaywoodie Flavor is famous. But don't let us urge you—Shown above, No. 22.
